The mission of the American Mental Health Alliance is to support and market competent ethical mental health services.

AMHA Supports These Principles

- People have the right to choose their own therapists.
- Psychotherapy is a collaborative process between therapist and client in service of the client.
- Therapists shall preserve client confidentiality.
- Mental health professionals shall create an interdisciplinary community that promotes and supports competent ethical practice.

Our Vision

Psychotherapists of all disciplines collaborate to create healthy alternatives to invasive, profit-driven, mental-health management. These alternatives include direct marketing to the public, fee-for-service arrangements and Connecting Care contracting, a model which keeps therapists in charge of client privacy and care quality while it supports the objective of integrating private practice mental health services with medical care.

Strategies

AMHA members share development and marketing expenses so that our values and our professional skills become widely known.

AMHA-USA uses www.AmericanMentalHealth.org as well as dozens of interlinked domains, sites and creative and collaborative marketing strategies to offer the services and intellectual products of members.

Quality Assurance

AMHA supports quality of treatment through:

- Enrollment of licensed professionals from all mental health disciplines
- Involvement of member-professionals in peer consultation
- Ongoing professional education
- Availability of specialist peer consultants.

Members of AMHA-Oregon are eligible for AMHA Contract (IPA) Participation.

- AMHA ConnectingCare is a model for building relationships between points of care to integrate independent private practice professionals with medical providers, clinics and systems.
- AMHA ConnectingCare is a model which uses Feedback Informed Therapy to demonstrate clinical effectiveness and improve treatment outcomes.
- AMHA ConnectingCare is a model which demonstrates the effectiveness of psychotherapy to third-party payers and protects the privacy of the therapy relationship.
