The mission of the American Mental Health Alliance is to support and market competent and ethical mental health services.

AMHA Supports These Principles

- People have the right to choose their own therapists.
- Psychotherapy is a collaborative process between therapist and client in service of the client.
- Therapists shall preserve client confidentiality.
- Mental health professionals shall create an interdisciplinary community that promotes and supports competent and ethical practice.

Our Vision

Psychotherapists of all disciplines collaborate to create healthy alternatives to invasive, profit-driven, mental-health management. These alternatives include direct marketing to the public, fee-for-service arrangements and Connecting Care contracting, a model which keeps therapists in charge of client privacy and care quality while supporting the objective of integrating private practice mental health services with medical care.

Strategies

AMHA-USA members and Chapters share development and marketing expenses so that our values and our professional skills become widely known.

AMHA-USA uses www.AmericanMentalHealth.org as well as dozens of interlinked domains, sites and creative and collaborative marketing strategies to offer the services and intellectual products of members.

Quality Assurance

AMHA-USA supports quality of treatment through:

- Enrollment of licensed professionals from all disciplines
- Involvement of member-professionals in peer consultation
- Ongoing professional education
- Availability of specialist peer consultants.

Members of AMHA-OR Metro who complete required training and agreements become eligible for AMHA

ConnectingCare Contract Participation- see more information on the For Professionals page at www.AMHA-OR.org
